Grove Citizens Start Planning For Area Recreation District

The Dimmer View

by MAX GOODWIN

Lemon Grove's Carnival Days drew more than 50,000 women, men and children to this area last week.

It was the most successful promotion ever conducted locally.

Lemon Grove business firms suplied reduced rate ride tickets to the circus housed on the area between Food Basket market and First National Bank. A free, two-ring circus was staged three times a day. Often, the lines for the carnival rides got uncomfortably long because there simply wasn't enough ride capacity to handle the unprecedented turnout, but everybody had fun.

The use of the property was donated by the Sonka brothers interests as a good-will business-community gesture.

Business firms, the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, and this newspaper were sponsors of the event. A share of the credit should go to each, but the main share should go to James Hegarty, advertising executive of this newspaper, for putting the plan together.

Hegarty, who was recently elected president of the merchant's division of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, together with Ollie Turnbull, the veteran bulwark of the newspaper, pulled 82 Lemon Grove firms together for the circus project. This is almost twice as many firms ever gotten together for any local project before.

The circus was fun mostly because it was free. It brought joy to the young in heart, business to almost all local firms, prestige to the chamber of commerce and it proved that the local newspaper is read carefully and thoroughly.

It also brought to us a considerable amount of amazement that Jim Hegarty, competent as he is, could so delicately balance the business details of the circus bringing; of supervising the merchant's promotion; of putting together a 28-page tabloid newspaper section around which the event was built, while distributing ride tickets to business firms, gathering news material for the tabloid, making advertising layouts, and the myriad of details of a really, big promotion.

He even took on the responsibility of getting a Shaggy Dog, similar to S.D. of movie fame, who competed for attention with the circus' trained baby elephant named Margie.

The chamber and local merchants will refer to it a long time as Lemon Grove Carnival Days, but around here we can't help but think of it as Hegarty Days.

Those who questioned whether or not the growth of California would maintain its record-breaking place may need not have any concern in the future.

California is going to keep on growing, maybe like the tumbleweeds which blow across our green-and-golden boundary to the east.

Unlike tumbleweeds, the newcomers are invited. This is borne out by the fact we have water development machinery set up for providing for 35 million people . . . more than twice as many people as live here now.

To this end Governor Brown has called for a one-and-three-quarters billion dollars bond issue to finance the state water program. In the meanwhile, the state is going ahead with the program with eighty-three million dollars appropriated by the legislature.

Governor Brown said the passage of the issue will remove the last great obstacle to the state's full growth and prosperity.

Any way you look at it we're going to finally get all the water we need in San Diego County . . . and there'll be a lot of new residents to help consume it.

The one thing this administration, and the former ones for that matter, have been unable to solve is the problem of reducing the per capita burden. Unlike all other mass production formulas where the cost per item goes down wtih increased mass, taxes in California rise with population.

It doesn't make sense, but it does.

EQUALIZATION BOARD ENDS YEARLY SESSION

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — The County Board of Supervisors met until 6:15 Monday evening to wind up its 1959-60 sessions as a Board of Equalization. Thirty-eight protests of assessments were heard on the last day the Board could legally listen to taxpayers, and only five requests for lower assessments were granted.

Carnival to Stay For Four-Day Run In Lemon Grove

The carnival is going to stay in town for another weekend.

That was the decision early this week as merchants and carnival owners surveyed the success of last week's special Circus of Values promotion.

Merchants and carnival owners both reported unprecedented business for the four-day weekend. The business firms began a special sales promotion on Thursday, with drastic mark-downs on prices.

At the same time, the Roy G. Kabat Circus and carnival opened a four-day run on a lot owned by A. F. and Amy Sonka, between the Food Basket market and the First National Bank on Imperial Avenue.

They announced early this week that the carnival would reopen Thursday for another four-day weekend run. The circus, however, is not expected to be held over because of previous committments.

In discussing the results of last week's sales promotion, businessmen were in agreement that the venture was a success. They reported in many cases that they had done more business than in any similar period in years.

There was an occasional dissenter, of course. One merchant said that he had done very little business on Saturday, but attributed the decline to the fact that his store faces on Imperial Avenue and that the street was torn up in his block, thus preventing automobile traffic from reaching his door.

Some other merchants said that business was good, but attributed the increase to normal business "healthiness" rather than to the promotion.

But most merchants were so enthusiastic that they urged the carnival to stay for another weekend, and decided to stage another sales promotion.

The carnival will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Thursday, from 1 to 10 on Friday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Sunday.

C of C Manager Attends Stanford Study Group Classes

Jesse E. Lee, manager of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, will give a report at the next chamber meeting on his week-long classes at the Institute for Organization Management. The classes were held last week at Stanford University.

The classes, attended by 175 chamber of commerce managers and executives, were sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Lee said two elements interested him more than others. These were classes on analyzing community needs, and a study on membership and finance. After five days of classes an examination was given but the results of the tests will not be known for several weeks.

Such classes are held annually, Lee said. This is the second year for them.

Lee will give his report to the chamber board of directors August 6.

'Peculiar Curbs' Said Designed To Aid Drainage

"Peculiar looking" curbs being installed as part of the improvement of Imperial Avenue in Lemon Grove will solve a long-standing drainage problem, a county engineer said this week.

Curbs at the northeast and southeast corners of the intersection of Imperial and Broadway were installed a foot and a half lower than the existing street.

Howard Taylor, in charge of surveys and plans in the county road department, said that the curbs were put in at levels that would tie in wtih tentative plans for improving Broadway. One phase of the proposed Broadway improvement would be the cutting off of a 'crest" just east of the intersection, lowering the street level.

At present, Taylor said, the existing street is being tapered down to meet the new curbs. The parking areas also are being sloped and re-surfaced.

Other curbs along the street are being put in to fit the sidewalks already there. The bottom of these curbs will be "uneven" to allow water to flow into drainage structures being put in as part of the improvement project.

On the west side of Imperial along the railroad right of way north of Broadway, curbs are higher than those on the opposite side of the street.

A "box" is to be installed at the intersection of Imperial and the alley just north of Broadway. A drainage pipe is to be put under the street and the railroad to carry storm drainage out of the area.

"There has been a lot of ponding there in the past," Taylor said, "and the grades of the street and curbs have been worked out to get the water out of there."

The high curb line along the railroad will be carried all the way to North Avenue, Taylor said, to make the intersection of Imperial tie into North Avenue more easily on the same level as the railroad.

"We had to prevent a sharp upgrade there at the railroad," Taylor said, "to keep from having a dangerous intersection."

Work on the improvement project is expected to take four months.

Seven Spring Valley Units in Planning

Two Spring Valley elementary schools, Spring Valley Junior High School, and sites for three elementary schools and a junior high school figure prominently in current constuction and plans for the immediate future in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Superintendent Glenn E. Murdock revealed this in describing current construction totaling $1,122,785, and pending applications with the state to go ahead with the acquisition of the four sites.

A total of 47 classrooms, two kindergarten rooms, one multi-purpose room and one principal's office are involved in current projects at six schools, Murdock said. Included are 13 classrooms at Spring Valley Junior High; two kindergartens, four classrooms and one multi-purpose room at Brier Patch Elementary, La Mesa; two special education classrooms at Lemon Avenue School, La Mesa; three portable classrooms at Spring Valley Elementary, and nine classrooms at Maryland Avenue School, La Mesa.

Also included are 16 classrooms and an office for the Avondale Schools, 8401 Stansbury St., Spring Valley, expected to be occupied in mid-December. Pupils who will be attending the yet-to-be-opened Avondale School are currently attending other schools in the district.

Other facilities under construction will be occupied in October and November, Murdock said, under present anticipated completion dates, with the exeception of the Maryland Avenue School which is not expected to be completed until January.

The work at the junior high school includes four regular classrooms, two arts and crafts rooms, four science rooms, two shops and a speech arts room.

Fred H. Lance, business manager for the district, said the current steel industry strike might delay many of the current completion dates.

Current district construction, Lance said, is 1 percent under a state allowance figure of $1,261,600. The total contract figure of $1,122,785, divided among five contractors, covers both construction and site development.

Coordinating Council To Sketch Boundaries

A move to form a recreation district for this area was launched Monday by the Lemon Grove Coordinating Council.

There were indications that the efforts of the Council might be coordinated with those of the Swimming Pool Association and the Mt. Miguel Boosters Club—both of which have begun programs aimed at improving the recreational facilities of the area.

The first concrete step was taken last weekend when R. C. Whitmore, superintendent of the Coachella Valley Recreation, Park and Parkway Association, came to Lemon Grove at the invitation of the Coordinating council.

He appeared at Monday's council meeting to show a color movie and discuss the possibilities of setting up a recreation district in this area.

Whitmore suggested and the Council voted approval—that the first step should be to determine what boundaries a recreation district should have.

The Rev. E. Walter Smith, president of the council, asked that Council members return at the next meeting with suggestions for membership on a boundaries committee.

Whitmore discussed methods used by his district in getting underway five years ago. He said that they started with a borrowed $10,000 and now have facilities which cover the entire high school district around Indio and Coachella.

There are eight unincorporated communities in the district, plus the two incorporated cities, he said, and approximately 50,000 people. The district has an assessed valuation of $67,000,000, a tax rate of 10 cents per $100 valuation, and an operating budget of $67,000 this year.

The district operates playgrounds, two swimming pools, 50 ball teams, a Teen Town Club, a drama section and a series of movies, plus a "Golden Age" recreation center with facilities for oldsters to play croquet, shuffleboard, chess and checkers.

Council discussion centered around the acquisition of parks for picnics, the construction of a recreation center, the building of a swimming pool and the use of the recreational facilities of the various schools in the area.

Frank Armstrong, director of the Lemon Grove Youth Center, pointed out that the area has far outgrown the facilities there. Except for the backyard pools, one commercial swimming club and various Little League ball parks, Council members said, the area has no recreational facilties.

Whitmore pointed out that schools and churches have many facilities which can be used. Mel Grant, principal of Mt. Miguel High School, said that facilities there already are being taxed by demands on them, and pledged cooperation with the Council in working out a coordinated use of those facilities.

The Council meeting adjourned with a general agreement that a boundaries committee will be named and that a concentrated effort will be made to get every agency in the area into a cooperative drive to improve recreational facilities.

Men's Club Hears Of Life in Japan

Lemon Grove Men's Club members were given a photographic trip to the Far East last Friday.

They heard C. Ed Savo, former navy intelligence man, describe life in Japan and show colored slides of many areas there and in China.

Savo was one of the first men into Japan after that nation's surrender at the end of World War II and participated in peace negotiations. Later he was part of a team which helped convert Japanese aviation industry facilities for the repair and manufacture of Allied aireraft during the Korean War.

Injured Swimmer Gets Operation On Spinal Cord

Robert Ellingson, 17, of 2913 Central Avenue, Lemon Grove, who has been paralyzed since a swimming accident four days after his 17th birthday, has undergone spine surgery at Doctor's Hospital.

His mother, Mrs. Robert Ellingson, said the surgeons had removed bone splinters of Bob's fourth vertebra from his spinal cord when they operated on him this week. He was injured June 23, when he splashed into the shallow water at Mission Bay, Apparently the impact of the water caused the spinal fracture. His companions, two Lemon Grove youths, dragged him unconscious from the water.

He has been unable to move any part of his body but his arms since the accident.

Several other youngsters created similar space outfits in their studies of the stars and interplanetary travel. See page 2 for related story.

State Foresters Probe Three-Fire Outbreak

California Division of Forestry officials are investigating a series of three grass fires which sprang up five minutes apart along Freeway 94 Saturday.

A crew from the Lemon Grove fire department put out the first of the blazes, which burned approximately half an acre along the bank of the freeway near Eucalyptus Park.

The truck was given incorrect directions first and went to the wrong side of town. A second call to the station sent the truck to the eastern edge of the fire district.

Five minutes later, the CDF office in La Mesa sent a truck to put out a fire along the freeway at the intersection of Highway 94 and Palm Avenue. Only a "spot" of grass was burned.

Seven minutes later, the CDF truck was dispatched to the intersection of the freeway and Lemon Avenue. Nearly three quarters of an acre of grass was burned in that fire.

CDF officials said this week that an investigation into the cause of the three-fire series is being conducted.

Jerry Watmore Places In Diving Contest

REDDING, Calif. (Spcl)—Fifteen-year-old Jerry Watmore of Spring Valley placed 13th on the low board and 12th on the high board in the national women's diving championships here last weekend.

Jerry, a sophomore at Mt. Miguel High School, was competing against women everal years older than herself. Her coach, Ray Yeakle, said that she was only 6 points "out of the top" and that if she hadn't "flubbed" on a couple of dives she would have won.

The County Counsel has started proceedings to acquire by condemnation eleven acres of land belonging to Mrs. M. Yada at Highland Blvd. and S. Barcelona Street, according to a report from the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District office. The site will be used to construct the new Highlands Elementary School. The property is now being used for truck gardening.

Sam Hamill, architect, has been hired to design the new school.

Fred Lance, business manager for the school district, said that applications have been filed for four new school sites and two construction projects in the district.

The four sites are: Rancho Elementary School in Spring Valley Estates No. 2; Loma Elementary School, on the Sharpe property, near Calavo and San Carlos drives; La Presa Junior High School, north of Jamacha Blvd.; and the La Presa Elementary School No. 2.

Summer School Program Enrolls 1,821 Pupils

LA MESA—Progress in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District's summer program has been hailed by James F. Halcomb, principal, in a report prepared for the staff and the community.

Total enrollment in the program reached 1,821, Halcomb said. A total of 1,500 pupils are taking part in elementary enrichment classes, 107 in junior high school level courses and 217 in remedial reading activities

Thirteen schools in the district and 66 teachers are involved.

Children attending regular elementary classes are participating in a sciences and mathematics theme "Learning to Use the Tools of Science." Pupils are being encouraged to extend their learning as far as possible in those areas, gaining experiences which do not duplicate those offered during the regular school year.

"It is felt that the summer program should extend the learning of children beyond the necessarily congested regular program," Halcomb said. "Content of the science-math area is limited only by the interest of the children, the ability of their teachers and the availability of materials."

Among the topics being studied in the various classroms, Halcomb listed the following: Space, air, and planets; designing the city of the future; oceanography; magnets, air, temperature and sound; world climate; habitats of the animals of the world; California wild life, then and now; Around the world in 27 days, and plant life in Spring Valley.

Lemon Grove Youth Ends Shooting In Movie Role

Lemon Grove actor Bob Turnbull has just completed one week's shooting in Jerry Wald's production, "Beloved Infidel," for 20th Century Fox. Henry King directed.

Turnbull was cast in the role of an assistant director of a movie studio. This color, cinemascope film stars Gregory Peck and Deborah Kerr and features Karin Booth.

The film plot is taken from the best selling bok of the same name by columnist Sheilah Graham. It concerns the love affair between Miss Graham and noted author F. Scott Fitzgerald back in the late 30's.

The picture moves to England in a month for location shooting.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Edtior:

In all of our enthusiasm for the paving and widening of Imperial Avenue in Lemon Grove, we are losing sight of a very dangerous result of this "improvement."

Even before this improvement project began, Imperial Avenue was becoming a gigantic funnel to bring traffic from the north and west parts of Lemon Grove and channel it onto Cypress Ave.

At the intersection of Cypress and Mt. Vernon there are big hedges obstructing the view of traffic on Cypress from the South to a motorist traveling either East or West on Mt. Vernon. It is impossible to see whether or not there is any traffic coming until you inch out into the street and look past the hedges — and then it could be too late if there are any oncoming vehicles.

It seems to me that we should see to it that these hedges are removed or cut back and that other measures are taken to make sure that when the "improved" Imperial Avenue sends more and more traffic into this part of town the other streets will be able to take care of it.

Otherwise, we are paying tax dollars to create an even greater traffic hazard in this instance.

Sincerely,
Joseph A. Berendt

Boyhood Buddies Unite In Unique New Eatery

Two men who romped through vacant lots and played shinny together on the streets in Chicago when they were kids have opened up a sausage house in Lemon Grove.

It's located at 7601 Broadway and they call it The Sausage Shop.

The venture started when Walter Berger decided to retire from a life of sausage making in Chicago. Naturally, he came to California for a visit and looked up his old friend, Sam Matson, in Lemon Grove.

They got to talking about how few people know that there are many, many kinds of sausage—and what a good idea it would be to open up a small restaurant which specialized in serving these different kinds of sausage.

Matson owned a piece of property. Berger had the experience.

So this week The Sausage Shop opened. There's room for 14 customers at the counter, plus room for 80 people in the patio around the barbecue. And there's a place where you can buy sausage to take home for cooking.

Berger will make all the sausage right there in a special room.

Matson is developer of a business "complex" on the same corner.

Other business firms in the Matson complex on the 100 by 140 foot corner include Velenor Hair Stylists, The Top Shop, a barber shop; Helen Matson, hair removal studio; the medical offices of Drs. Tracy and Crow; the Cottage Cleaners, and Jumbo, a cafe with an outdoor beer garden.

Scout News

For the second year, Spring Valley Girl Scouts have "camped out" on several acres of the Edwards La Salle property, 3166 Bancroft Dr. "A perfect camp ground," was the remark by several leaders. There are many olive trees on the property, which gives it that "in the back-country" appearance.

Last week, under the direction of Mrs. Lee Davis, and assisted by troop leaders Mrs. Maye Dutelle, Mrs. Mary Hass and Mrs. Margaret Babby, 40 Girl Scouts in the 11-12 year old bracket, attended this "primitave" camp. PICTURE TALK

by Bob Vaught

MID-SUMMER LAMENT

"Gee whiz, Mom, I don't have anything to do."

As sure as summer brings crab grass, sooner or later it also brings that familiar complaint from the small fry. What to do about it? Well, as it so happens, we have a tried-and-true remedy. Give the youngster a camera of his own.

Bob Vaught

Nothing expensive, understand. A simple Brownie Star Camera is enough to open up a whole new world for an inquisitive boy or girl. Brownie Starflash, for example, is an all-in-one indoor and outdoor camera built to take plenty of rugged handling.

Put the Starflash Camera in your youngster's hands and you challenge him to take a new look at the world. The viewfinder teaches him to look for order and form. It gives him a sense of composition. But let's face it—pure and simple it gives him something that's fun to do. Something that will keep him out of your hair for more than a little while.

If you treat your progeny kindly, he may lend you his Brownie Starflash Camera someday to bring your family album up to date. You'll find it does a man-size job in this respect. Takes a dozen big pictures in color or black-and-white, on a roll of 127 film. Takes color slides, too.

Oh, before we forget it. No need for you to make the trip down to the store. Just send the lucky younster in, and we'll be glad to handle the transaction man-to-young-man or lady.

El Morocco to Open This Week in Grove

Mike Mouzas, veteran San Diego restaurateur, opens his El Morocco Restaurant this week in Lemon Grove.

He is making good his promise to many Lemon Grove residents that he would come to our town when and if he could arrange it.

A few months ago, circumstances did the arranging for him when developers decided to build a shopping center at the corner of Federal and Euclid where Mouzas' El Morocco was located. The restaurant bowed to the new development and a bank now stands where the El Morocco once dispersed huge quantities of food and rink.

So Mouzas made good his promise.

He came to Lemon Grove . . . but not the easy way.

First he bought a new building on Broadway near Kempf Street. It had never been occupied but he remodeled it. He tore out the front and put in a facade more in keeping with his idea of a North Africa motif. Then he tore out the back walls and built onto the new building about 50 per cent more room to dine. Then he tore out the interior and refurbished it in the Moorish tradition. And now he stands ready to open the Lemon Grove Morocco Restaurant at 8015 Broadway at Kempf.

John Christopoulos and Denny Saris will be managers. The restaurant will be open daily from 10 a.m. till 2 a.m. featuring merchants luncheons, dinners and cocktails. It will supply the needs of private parties, luncheon, service and civic clubs.

The air-conditioned club has a capacity of 200 guests.

While American food will be featured, a regular Sunday attraction is to be a nine-course French dinner.

Mouzas, a big burly man with a genial disposition, became known as "Big Mike" to thousands of cafe-goers all over the nation as they visited his various enterprises during the 24 years he operated cafes in San Diego County. Since 1925 he has operated the New York Restaurant on San Diego's Broadway; the Emerald Cafe at 4th and E Streets; the Rio Cafe at 5th and F Stret, the Antlers Cafe at 5th and University, and the El Morocco at Euclid and Federal.

Big Mike's El Morocco in Lemon Grove opens this week on Thursday at 10 a.m. and will be open every day and evening from then on.

"CITIZENSHIP"

Like ho many other things, we are apt to take our citizenship in this beatutiful and blessed nation for granted. With we must assume our responsibilities of a personal life which privilege and opportunity come responsibliity. State College Admission Deadline Nears

August 14 will be the deadline to apply for admission to San Diego State College in the fall semester, Dr. Melvin Anderson, dean of admissions and records, announced this week. He added that this fall for the first time the college will have campus student housing.

All students planning to enroll in regular day or Campus Evening Program classes must apply for admission to the College, unless they were regularly enrolled last spring, Anderson said.

Admission applications may be obtained by writing the office of Admissions, San Diego State College, San Diego 15, or phoning JUniper 2-4411, Ext. 271. Applications must be brought in to that office or mailed and postmarked on the 14th.

Zoning Variance Asked by Store For Addition

SAN DIEGO (CNS)—A public hearing before the County Planning Commission is slated for Friday morning on an application to permit an addition to the building of McMahan's Furniture Store, Lemon Grove.

The company is asking for a zoning variance to permit it to build seven and a half feet from the alley at the rear of 7696 Broadway, instead of the 15 feet required in the zoning law. The application says that the present building is only seven and a half feet from the alley.

A contract for building the addition has been negotiated with Reis Construction Co., and work will start as soon as the variance is approved, the application declares.

ALL OUT FOR A SUN 'N FUN-FILLED BARBECUE WEEKEND!

Mary Morgan

Food Basket Home Economist

July cooks need spend little time in the kitchen this weekend! There's easy going, "hi everybody" fun in store for all, if you poke up a fire and let the barbecue or grill go to work on a Pork Loin or a Turkey, and the "how-to" for both of these worry-free items is simple! The crisp, brown coat that encloses the succulent meat of a slowly cooked, self-basting, charcoal-roasted pork loin is almost beyond compare. Served with ginger-pineapple sauce, or candied kumquats and grill-roasted yams, the whole meal makes light fun of outdoor cookery.

Smoked Pork Chops or Farmer Style Spareribs, Hawaiian style, saucy and done to a turn in the rotisserie oven or right on the grill, are smackin' good, and if you've never tried a boneless pork loin, apricot-glazed and wafting its tantalizing aroma over the back yard fence, this might be a good weekend to give yourself this gustatory pleasure.

You can't beat tender, crusty barbecued Turkey, whole or in quarter roasts. Any size turkey can be spit roasted, although the smaller birds or the cut-up sections cook more quickly, if time is a factor. Breast sections may be cut into several serving-size pieces, brushed with marinade or bastng sauce, made simply by adding oil, soy sauce and garlic to a cup of Sauterene. Total barbecuing time will be 50-80 minutes, depending upon size of pieces. Dark meat quarters take a bit longer than white, with frequent brushings with the marinade or basting sauce. Remember, your meat thermometer takes all the guess-work out of Turkey barbecuing. Let the temperature arrive at 190 and the bird is perfect.

Pork Loin or Turkey, add fresh corn and green pepper relish, or a big bowl of salad, some crusty rolls or a loaf of grill-toasted garlic bread and a frosty melon and you're in for a weekend of pure eating pleasure and care-free relaxation, with no indoor kitchen chores to follow.
